

WILSON LISTENS, SAYS NOTHING ABOUT TARIFF

His Campaign Pledges, However, Promised Quick Action for Reform.

HE HAS A RESTFUL DAY Sees Football Game, and Learns Old Time College Breach Is Healed.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 8.—Gov. Wilson this afternoon attended the football game between Princeton and New York University. Mrs. Wilson had gone to New York and the Governor was attended by a company of old friends. There was Robert Bridges, one of the associate editors of Scribner's Magazine; Robert Underwood Johnson, editor of the Century; Prof. Stockton Axon, his brother-in-law, and William F. McCombs. Near by were the Governor's daughters, the Misses Eleanor and Jessie.

Mr. McCombs came here just to loaf for a day or two. Asked if he had discussed politics with the Governor, he said he had not, but had talked of a matter that was much nearer to the hearts of both. That was the incident of their really first meeting and the beginning of that friendship that reached its flower when the younger man stood up in the convention hall at Baltimore and never wavered until the vote came.

"I was a freshman," he said. "I had been here a week, didn't know anybody and was as homesick as a man could be. One night I attended a meeting of the Southern Club. Gov. Wilson was there, and after the session was over he walked home with me, talking of the things that made me feel I had a friend. I never forgot it and we both had a hearty laugh when I told him how big I felt that night."

Another thing that gave the Governor pleasure to-day was the placing of his signature to the diploma of Prof. Thomas J. Preston of Wells College, who is to marry the widow of President Grover Cleveland. Prof. Preston was graduated from Princeton in 1887 and was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi chapter of his subjects in the lecture rooms of Gov. Wilson, then the president of the university. When, in 1911, Prof. Preston took his Ph.D. degree his former instructor had become Governor of New Jersey and the diploma was signed by acting President John A. Stewart.

But Prof. Preston, having been always an earnest admirer of Gov. Wilson and one of the first to congratulate him on his election to the Presidency, thought it would be fitting to have Gov. Wilson's signature on the diploma. The signature was placed there to-day and the honored document will hang in the room where he and Mrs. Cleveland are to be married. Tonight Gov. and Mrs. Wilson are entertaining a number of Princeton friends. Much significance may be attached to this gathering after that of last night at the home of Prof. Daniels. At the latter reception Gov. and Mrs. Wilson met many of those former Princeton friends who had fallen away from the president of the university and his family during the time of his presidency. At the affair of the university was breaking friendships. These are of course personal matters, but there appears to have been a general good will since the election of last Tuesday. Mr. McCombs also was a guest at the Governor's home to-night.

Gov. Wilson vouchsafed no further comment to-day on the subject of the revision of the tariff than that the views of various Senators, Congressmen and men of affairs on the subject of the tariff were useful and important. He said he was reading all of them, and appeared to be pleased with the manner in which a subject of such general interest was being discussed from every angle. In nearly every campaign speech he made the point that the very crux of the present political and economic situation is the fact that every man, woman and child are studying important problems with greater acumen, and are expressing their opinions as to what should be done if the interests of the people as a whole are to be conserved.

A salient point, being made by those close to the Governor since his nomination at Baltimore, the man who has travelled with him, studied him, and talked confidentially with him, is that much of the present discussion of an early revision of the tariff hinges upon the question of party expediency. It may be pointed out that party expediency cut very little figure with the Governor when he started in to promote those reforms which he had promised the people of New Jersey from the campaign platform. If there was anything he did not do it was to hesitate between party expediency and the reforms he was pledged to carry out. The definite promise he made to the people throughout the present campaign was that his party intended to go through the tariff schedule with the teeth of the comb, and wherever they found lurking special privileges that worked to the benefit of a few and to the detriment of the people at large, to get them out, such task to be performed without in any way touching the healthy fibre of legitimate business. His plea for a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives was based on the argument that these reforms were desired immediately.

BARNES CORRECTS ERROR.

Name of Roosevelt Appeared in Statement Instead of Taft.

William Barnes, Jr., Republican State chairman, called the attention of THE SUN to an error in quoting Mr. Barnes in yesterday morning's issue. He said:

"I stated that the platform of the Republican party, which denounced the recall of judicial decisions on constitutional questions, was adopted by a vote of the majority of the convention, but the platform stands as the doctrine of the Republican party on this question adopted by a majority of the convention, even admitting the false claim regarding the seats made by the Roosevelt faction."

Prof. Pupin to Speak.

Prof. Pupin of Columbia will deliver an address in the public forum of the Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street, this evening. Prof. Pupin will discuss the Balkan war. He himself is a Serb.

CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSES.

J. H. Goulden of New York Sent Most in Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The first final campaign expense accounts arrived to-day. All were from candidates for the House. Thirty days after election is the limit for submission of the expense affidavits.

John H. Shadwick, Progressive candidate against Representative William B. McKinley of Illinois, Taft pre-convention manager, reports he spent $342.

Representative Swager Sherry (Dem.) of the Fifth Kentucky district, listed a total expense of $400. J. H. Goulden spent $3,908.50 in the general election as the Democratic candidate from the Twenty-third New York district.

Representative E. L. Taylor (Rep.) of Columbus, Ohio, spent $548.45 during October and $374.65 afterward.

Total election expenses submitted by other Congressional candidates were:

Third California district, Gilbert M. Ross (Dem.), nothing; First Massachusetts district, M. L. (L. D.) and an A. A. New Jersey, Charles Killy (Proib.), $2.42; Tenth New Jersey, Alexander Cairne (Soc.), nothing; Fifteenth New York, James H. Hickey (Prog.), nothing; Thirty-eighth New York, George P. Decker (Dem.), $290.50; Fourth Ohio, John L. Cable (Rep.), $54.35; and in the Sixth Ohio, S. D. Fess (Rep.), $261.90; Ohio at large, Randolph Walton (Prog.), $118.80; Third Pennsylvania, George Kibbey (Soc.), nothing; Fourth Pennsylvania, C. Dekyne (Soc.), nothing; Twelfth Pennsylvania, J. Foley (Soc.), $89.40; First South Carolina, A. P. Prioleu (Rep.), $115, and Fifteenth Texas, Representative John M. Garner (Dem.), nothing.

PENROSE LOSES CONTROL OF PENNSYLVANIA ASSEMBLY

Republicans, Progressives and Democrats to Ally Against the Senator.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9.—Senator Boies Penrose, who will not control more than one of the twenty-five State Senators and not more than six of the 207 members of the Assembly elected Tuesday, is threatened with the allied opposition of Republicans, Progressives and Democrats if he attempts to block the proposed programme of revolutionary legislation with the aid of holdover State Senators or any other influence he may seek to bring to bear.

Penrose's opposition is anticipated, but he is considered almost powerless as far as power in the Legislature is concerned, and the only fear is that he may be able to accomplish through Gov. John K. Tener, who has two years yet to serve.

Roosevelt-Flinn Progressives have not yet abandoned hope of getting the Governor on their side, but the Democratic coalition plan is put forward, it is understood, in case it should become necessary to override the Governor's vetoes.

Republican State Chairman Henry G. Wagoner to-day took up the work of preparing for the convening of the Legislature in January.

The Democratic State platform pledges are assured of being translated into laws at the next session of the Legislature, said Chairman Wagoner to-day. "I have written pledges from eighteen out of twenty-six Senators elected Tuesday that they will support the Progressive movement and the Democratic alliance in the House. Votes of combined Republican and Washington party candidates assure success of the Progressive programme unless Democrats succeed in securing an almost identical programme of legislation."

GOLDFOGLE SPENT $2,419.

Cost Judge Donnelly Nothing to Get Higher Job.

Congressman Henry M. Goldfogle spent $2,419 to be elected to Congress from the Twelfth district, according to his affidavit of expenditures filed in the Supreme Court yesterday. No outsider contributed to his campaign and the bulk of the expense was for printing and mailing.

City Court Judge Thomas F. Donnelly, who was elected to the Supreme Court, said he received nothing and spent nothing.

T. B. MAY HOLD CALIFORNIA.

Missing Precincts May Not Overcome His Lead of 905.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—It looks as though Roosevelt has so commanding a lead in California that the sixty-five missing precincts can make no change in the result. He now has a lead of 905.

Of the precincts to hear from fifteen are known to be favorable to Roosevelt. Fifty others are mountain precincts which will not give over thirty votes. Hence Wilson would have to get four votes to one for Roosevelt to reverse this percentage which he has not scored in any place.

It will be Tuesday before the final result is known. The latest returns give Debs, Socialist, 68,350 in the State.

SOCIALIST MAYOR IN CANTON.

Court Decides That Schilling Wins by Two Votes.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 9.—Judge W. Pharrman of the Court of Common Pleas handed down a decision to-day declaring that Harry Schilling, Socialist, is elected Mayor of Canton. Schilling won by the slender margin of two votes over Arthur R. Trumbull, Democrat.

Should Trumbull appeal to the Circuit Court, which seems certain, the act will operate as a stay in the execution of the court's order and Trumbull will continue to hold his position until a final decision is given.

MARQUARD ELUDES PURSUER.

He and Blossom Seeley Reach New York Ahead of Kane.

Richard de Marquis, the Rubie Marquard of the Giants, and his vaudeville partner, Blossom Seeley, arrived in town at 11 o'clock Friday night and went directly to the Hotel Endicott, where Mr. Marquard has made his home for some time. They came to the despatches, where, according to the despatches, Joseph Kane, a theatrical manager and husband of Miss Seeley, had created a diversion for them by chasing them about accompanied by two private detectives.

Mr. Kane was credited with almost catenapling up with them at the Hotel Dunlop in Atlantic City, getting to the hotel in time to corral some of their baggage and to hear the exhaust of the taxicab which was carrying them from the hotel.

Mr. Kane was expected at the Endicott all day yesterday, but no one would admit that he had put in an appearance. It was said that he had been searching Philadelphia for his wife and Marquard and apparently had lost the trail.

At the Endicott it was said Mr. Marquard was keeping his old room on the second floor, Miss Seeley in the room below it, and Mr. Marquard was in the room toward the roof of the building.

TAFT BUSY REVIVING THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

"Constitutional Government" Is the President's Suggestion for Rallying Cry.

ALSO A HOUSECLEANING

Never Had Any Illusions About His Election, His Friends Say Now.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—In the plans that are being made by President Taft and his political advisers for the rehabilitation of the Republican party no compromise will be considered that looks toward the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for President in 1916. The President and his followers are satisfied that Roosevelt threw himself into the campaign just finished first for revenge, and second, he expected through the demoralization of the Republican party to bring about his own nomination in 1916 as the only Moses who could lead the scattered and disorganized forces back into the promised land.

From talks that President Taft has had with Republicans since the election it is apparent now that he had no illusions in regard to the outcome of the election. As a good soldier he endeavored to assume an air of confidence up to the end, but there never was a moment when he really expected his own election.

The end toward which the President and his followers were striving was to prevent the election of Roosevelt and if possible to gain a greater number of electoral votes than the former President. President Taft has told some of his friends that he feels that the Republican organization has rendered a great service to the cause of constitutional government in preventing the nomination or election of Col. Roosevelt. It is also known that the President derives a good deal of comfort from the belief that this service will be more clearly and certainly appreciated by the American public as time goes on.

As indicating President Taft's ideas in regard to the future he is quoted as having said to one or two political writers:

"We kept Roosevelt from being elected President, and I think we can do it again."

The President is seizing every occasion to urge upon Republicans the necessity of getting to work immediately for the rehabilitation of the Republican party.

The President realizes that the process of restoring the party as a militant force will be slow, but he is confident that it will be brought about eventually. Mr. Taft himself intends personally to devote all the time that he has to spare beyond that necessary to make a living in private to the rebuilding of the Republican party. This action on his part will be entirely without regard to any political ambitions he may have for the future; indeed it is doubtful whether Mr. Taft ever will care again to seek political preferment at the hands of the people.

The plans which the President has discussed with Republican leaders for keeping alive the principles of the Republican party contemplate the organization of business men's clubs and agitation in favor of constitutional government.

"The Party of the Constitution" is the motto that the President and his followers will urge upon the Republican party in its fight for life.

Republicans who know of President Taft's determination not to compromise with Roosevelt or his principles fear that it may take more than one Democratic administration to bring about a substantial rehabilitation of the Republican party.

The President called several Senators and members of Congress who were in town to the White House this afternoon and talked with them in regard to the situation. One of these visitors was Senator Burton of Ohio. After his talk with the President Senator Burton said:

"We have sustained a crushing defeat."

but the Republican party will revive. The result of the election was discounted in advance and the blow is not as severe on that account. The Republican party must maintain its organization and its members must not lose hope. We were beaten before in 1892, but immediately thereafter there was a series of Republican victories almost unprecedented in 1893.

With some politicians it is a superstition that an overwhelming victory is sure to be followed by a sharp and early reaction. This was the case after the election of Franklin Pierce in 1852. It was repeated in a measure after the overwhelming victory of Grant in 1872. It was also true after the notable victory of Cleveland in 1892. The Democrats would not doubt have a more assured hold upon power if their majorities in the national House of Representatives at Washington and in diverse State Legislatures were not so large.

Other Republican callers at the White House were Senator Sutherland of Utah, Representative Serrano E. Payne of New York and former Representative Olcott of New York. Senator Sutherland said:

"The third party is founded wholly upon the personality of one man and has no future of its own except through that man. The Republican party is founded upon principles and adherence to the Constitution and laws and will live long after its leaders are dead and gone."

By most of the Republicans who have talked with President Taft it is acknowledged, however, that there will have to be a house cleaning; that many of the old time leaders who have been in the limelight for years will have to retire and give way to men who have not aroused the prejudices and suspicions of the voters.

Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said:

"I have taken charge of the President's political interests a few months ago, will probably be transferred to some other post. He may be appointed a member of the Industrial Commission, which was created at the last session of Congress."

Mr. Hilles will wind up the affairs of the National Committee within a few weeks and return to Washington to remain until March 4 next, when the President goes out of office.

ASKS FOR WOMAN IN CABINET.

California Suffragist Sends Plea to President-elect Wilson.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—If Woodrow Wilson does not appoint a woman member to his cabinet, it will not be because he wasn't asked.

"Accept my congratulations. In making up your Cabinet please consider the women of the ten Suffragette States. As a member of your Cabinet a wise, scholarly woman would bring to your council great assistance for the universal good of the people."

HADLEY SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR WILSON

Unless He Makes Some Bad Breaks Republican Party Is Helpless, He Says.

PRAISES T. R. AND BRYAN

Only Democratic Failure Will Bring Opposing Factions Together, He Thinks.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 9.—Gov. Herbert S. Hadley sees no future for the Republican party if Woodrow Wilson makes a good President. There is great doubt in his mind whether anything can happen to unite the opposing forces in the Republican party if the new President does not furnish some bad breaks upon which to build a foundation. Gov. Hadley believes that Wilson will profit by the mistakes of Grover Cleveland and that he will be a big, broadminded President and popularize his party for the contest which is to come four years hence.

Touching on politics to-day Gov. Hadley said:

"There is no question but that Wilson will do all in his power to outpace the black eye the Democratic party has worn ever since the Cleveland administration. If he succeeds I doubt whether the Republican party ever will come to life again. If he fails the Progressives and Republicans will be united—I know not under what name, but they will be united."

"There are no grave economic differences holding the Progressives and the Republicans apart. It is a question of name as much as anything else. A duplication of the Democratic failure will find factional lines obliterated and a reunion of the two factions of what was once the Republican party."

Gov. Hadley is not doubtful of the future.

"Gov. Wilson is a big, broad, conservative man," he said, "and I do not expect anything disastrous to occur while he is at the head of the Government. As the chief orator before the State Teachers Association here to-day Gov. Hadley said also:

"We have not yet arrived at a way to settle the trust question, but we are on the way to a solution. Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan have done more than any two individuals to bring about the present encouraging outlook for this country."

He spoke warmly concerning socialism and said one of the most optimistic symptoms of the present campaign was the fact that socialism is being looked upon with much more tolerance. He expressed the hope that Wilson's administration would be as prosperous as that of his predecessor.

"But," he said, "we are forced to admit that we haven't progressed as we should. Twenty years of trust busting have resulted in a waterhail. Since the civil war we have only really settled one question, and that is whether we shall have a single or double standard of our financial system."

BATTLESHIPS SMASH TARGETS.

Fleet Completes Practice, Making Good Day and Night Scores.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 9.—With the remains of ten targets scattered up and down the coast the battleship fleet, under the command of Rear Admiral Fletcher, which has been engaged in target practice off the southern drill grounds since Tuesday, completed their work to-day and came into Hampton Roads.

The weather for the week, excepting yesterday, was unfavorable for target shooting, but some good scores were made in both day and night shooting.

The Utah, Rhode Island and Delaware are reported to have made the best scores, but no official record is obtainable. Five of the target fleets were blown ashore by a northwest gale, while the ships were lining up for practice last Tuesday.
